Covers these lab items: All in one Eyelash Brush/Comb

What it is used for

To separate and groom eyelashes or eyebrow hairs using an eyelash brush or comb. To achieve a neat appearance while keeping the tool clean and avoiding eye irritation.

Main parts

- Brush bristles or comb teeth
- Handle
- Brush head
- Protective cap, if fitted

Before you start

1. Inspect the bristles or teeth for damage or loose parts.
2. Ensure the brush is clean and dry.
3. Wash or sanitize hands before use.
4. Use an individual clean brush for each client when required by hygiene procedures.

How to use

1. Hold the handle securely.
2. Ask the person to keep the eyes relaxed and avoid sudden movements.
3. Brush the lashes gently from the base toward the tips without touching the eye surface.
4. Use light strokes to separate clumps or arrange eyebrow hairs as needed.
5. Stop if the person feels pain or irritation.
6. Clean or dispose of the brush according to its type and hygiene procedure.
7. Store the tool with its head protected.

⚠ Safety

- Do not insert the brush into the eye or scrape the eyelid.
- Avoid use on irritated or infected eyes.
- Do not share disposable brushes between people.
- Stop immediately if the tool causes pain or injury.

Care & storage
