Covers these lab items: Shirobasti cap

What it is used for

A Shirobasti cap is used in traditional wellness treatments to contain oil on the head for a specified period under trained supervision. Use hygienic equipment and follow the approved treatment protocol and client precautions.

How to use

1. Inspect the cap, sealing edges, fasteners, and supporting accessories for damage.
2. Confirm that the treatment is appropriate and that relevant client precautions have been reviewed.
3. Clean and prepare the cap according to the approved hygiene procedure.
4. Position the client comfortably and fit the cap securely without excessive pressure.
5. Check the seal and apply oil only according to the trained practitioner's protocol.
6. Monitor comfort and skin condition throughout the treatment and stop if discomfort occurs.
7. Remove the cap carefully, clean the client as required, and sanitize reusable equipment.

⚠ Safety

- Use the cap only under appropriately trained supervision.
- Avoid oil entering the eyes, ears, or respiratory passages.
- Do not use damaged equipment or continue if irritation, dizziness, or discomfort develops.
- Check for known allergies and follow applicable hygiene precautions.

Care & storage

- Clean, dry, and store the cap in a hygienic place after each use.
