Covers these lab items: Distilled water

What it is used for

Handle distilled water cleanly for laboratory or equipment use.

How to handle

- Verify the required grade and intended application before use.
- Use clean containers and avoid contaminating the water during transfer.
- Label containers clearly and do not drink laboratory-grade water unless specifically approved for that purpose.
- Follow equipment or laboratory instructions for the required water quality.

Storage

- Keep in clean, tightly closed, compatible containers.
- Store away from chemicals, direct sunlight, and sources of contamination.
